

NATURE PROVIDES FOR SICK WOMEN

a more potent remedy in the roots and herbs of the field than was ever produced from drugs.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

HOW CAN I FORGET?

I remember, I remember. When I was but a lad, Down on the old plantation, What jolly joys I had!

I used to milk the seven cows, And swirl the sixteen motherly sows, And give the eighteen horses oats, And chuck the corn for thirty shoats, And fork the hay for fifty heads, Of cattle black and brown and red, And fodder seven hundred sheep Each night before I went to sleep.

Ah, those were happy seasons When I was but a lad! I had so many reasons For being gay and glad!

I used to rise at three o'clock And feed the seven sorts of stock And chop eleven cords of wood Before my appetite was good, And after breakfast dig a ditch Till all my muscles got the twitch, And hoe the cotton afternoons Along with six or seven coons.

Oh, what a sweet existence, How jammed with daily joy, Away off in the distance, When I was but a boy!

For even after supper time Up in the loft I used to climb And fork down forty tons of hay To feed the animals next day, And after that—ah, chiefest joy For my happy hearted boy!— I turned the grindstone (such repose) To sharpen forty-seven hoes.

I remember, I remember, Those boyhood pleasures yet, Down on the old plantation! Ah, how can I forget? —Robertus Love in Judge.

His Absent Ducal Mind. The Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, who is the next heir of Queen Wilhelmina, is a wealthy young prince, twenty-eight years of age, unmarried and has in Germany a reputation for perpetrating "bulks." Once while visiting a public school he noticed two boys of striking similarity in appearance.

"Why, what a remarkable likeness!" he exclaimed. "These lads must surely be twins!"

"Yes, your royal highness," remarked the principal, and he beckoned the two frightened youngsters to him.

"Ah," said the prince, placing his hand on the head of one of them, "what is your name?" "Heinrich."

"And how old are you?" "Six," answered the boy. "And you?" he said, turning to the other lad.—Harper's Weekly.

Why She Died. Teacher (to class in Shakespeare)—Now, Henry, what was the cause of Cleopatra's death?

Pupil—Indigestion. Teacher (angrily)—Henry Perkins! What do you mean by giving me such an absurd answer?

Pupil—Well, anyway, she died because she had a bite before retiring.—Boston Evening Transcript.
